

19-25 September

EXHIBITION

Tomorrow's truth by Jonathan Barnbrook

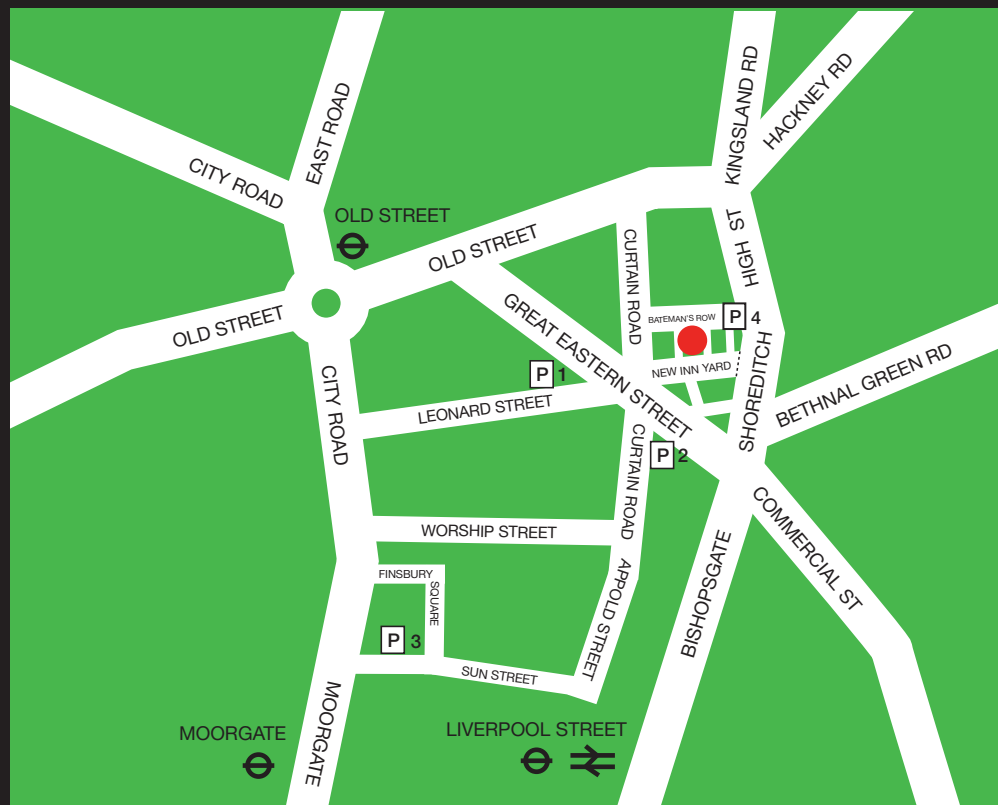

Open 11am-3pm, Monday to Friday

Held in conjunction with 'North Korea: Behind the headlines', an exhibition of striking graphic prints by artist and designer Jonathan Barnbrook.

November

An exciting event on women and trafficking is planned to mark the end of the Spotlight on Slavery series. Date to be announced. Details will be available on the Amnesty website www.amnesty.org.uk/events

For further information on the events, and on Anti-Slavery International's Fight for Freedom, 1807-2007 campaign, please contact m.kaye@antislavery.org

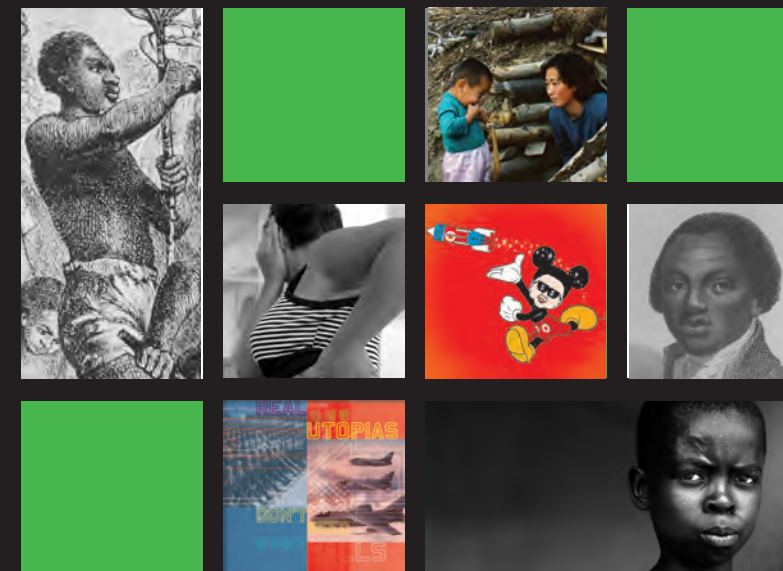

All events will be held at the Human Rights Action Centre, 17-25 New Inn Yard, London EC2A 3EA

All events are free and open to all. No booking required.

SPOTLIGHT ON SLAVERY 1807-2007

Amnesty International UK and Anti-Slavery International present:

A series of events to mark the 200th anniversary of Britain's abolition of the slave trade

Amnesty International
PROTECT THE HUMAN

Amnesty International
PROTECT THE HUMAN

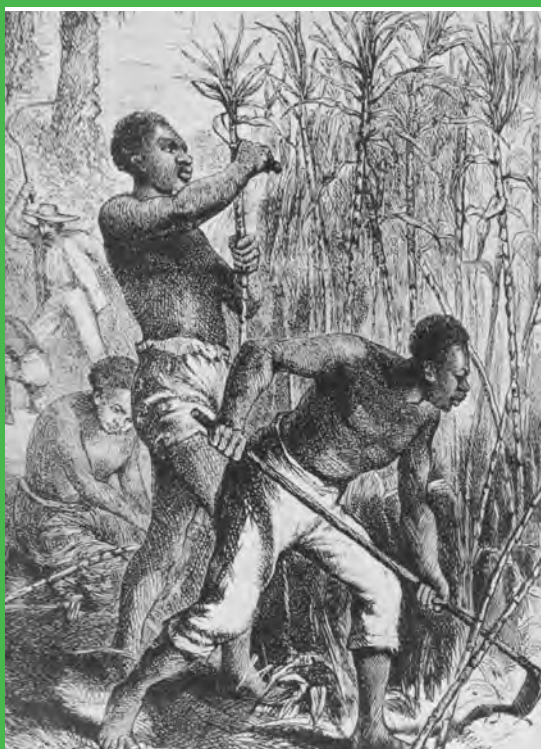

6-27 February 2007

EXHIBITION

Campaigning against slavery from the 18th to the 21st century

Open 11am-3pm, Monday to Friday

A powerful series of photographic images produced by Anti-Slavery International to mark the bicentenary

©Anti-Slavery International

Tuesday 6 February Is the transatlantic slave trade just a part of history?

7pm

A look at Britain's involvement in the slave trade, its legacies, and the impact these legacies continue to have in terms of racism and the development and underdevelopment of different countries. Speakers will make short presentations on these issues followed by an open discussion with the audience on such issues as apologies, reparations and how the anniversary should be marked.

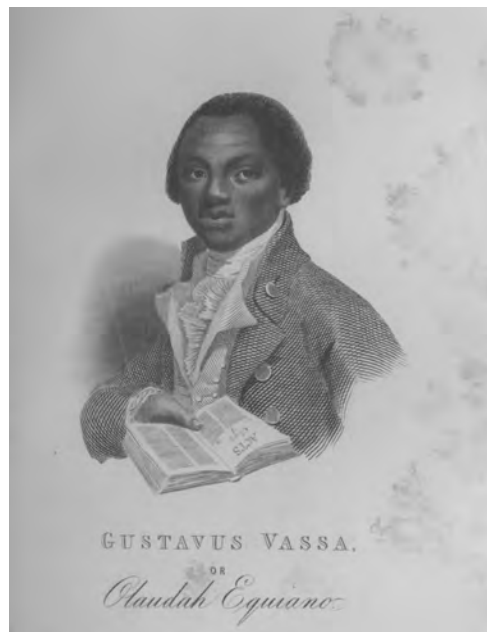

Speakers:

Dr Hakim Adi, Reader in the History of Africa and the African Diaspora, Middlesex University

Kofi Mawuli Klu, Joint Coordinator, Rendezvous of Victory

David Lammy MP (tbc)

Chaired by Sarah Williams, Anti-Slavery International

©Anti-Slavery International

Tuesday 27 February Slavery in the 21st century

7pm

The event will start with a screening of Anti-Slavery International's 15-minute film, Living Hell: slavery today, which highlights contemporary slavery in Niger and the Philippines. This will be followed by short presentations from the panel on the variety and scale of contemporary forms of slavery and discussion with the audience on what needs to be done to effectively eradicate slavery today.

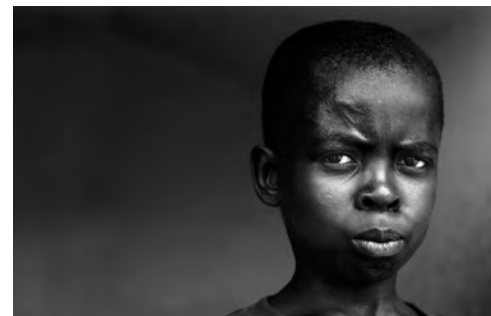

Speakers:

Dr Bridget Anderson, senior researcher and programme head, Centre on Migration Policy and Society (COMPAS)

Mike Kaye, communications manager, Anti-Slavery International

Government minister (tbc)

Chaired by Kate Allen, director, Amnesty International UK

©Alex Smailes/COLORS magazine

©Colin Mearns/The Herald Magazine

Thursday 24 May Film: Ghosts

by Nick Broomfield

6.30pm

Screened in 2006 as part of the London International Film Festival, this is Nick Broomfield's second fiction feature, inspired by the deaths of 23 Chinese cockle pickers in Morecambe Bay in 2004. The film traces one Chinese migrant as she tries to escape poverty in China by traveling to the UK, where she works in various exploitative jobs. Based on detailed research in both the UK and China and with a strong cast of non-actors, the film brings home powerfully the reality faced by thousands of migrants in the UK.

The screening will be followed by a Q and A with:

Nick Broomfield, filmmaker and director (other films include Aileen: Life and Death of a Serial Killer, and Kurt and Courtney)

Klara Skrivankova, Anti-Slavery International, author of the report Trafficking for forced labour in the UK, 2006

Chaired by Tim Hancock, campaigns director, Amnesty International UK

This screening is part of Amnesty International's 'Behind the Screen' film series.

GHOSTS is released in UK cinemas January 12.

See www.ghoststhemovie.co.uk

©Tartan Films

Thursday 20 September North Korea: Behind the headlines

7pm

More than 100,000 people are thought to have been imprisoned without charge and forced into hard labour in North Korea simply because their relatives have been critical of the regime. This evening of discussion and debate will include extracts from the BBC film Access to Evil which features remarkable footage from within this secretive state.

Followed by panel discussion with the film's presenter BBC journalist Olenka Frankiel, (tbc) and representatives from Anti-Slavery International, Human Rights Watch and Amnesty International.

©Choi Soon-ho

©Citizens' Alliance for North Korean Human Rights