

Black History Month Southampton 2007

The Bicentenary of the abolition of the Slave Trade

Samuel Coleridge-Taylor
(1875 – 1912)

Joseph Boulogne, Le Chevalier de Saint-Georges
(1745 – 1799)

The Turner Sims Concert Hall, Southampton University Friday 19 October - 7.30 p.m.

A concert to celebrate the impact of black music and black musicians in a diverse musical culture. As part of Black History Month 2006 Annamarie Ewing made a presentation on Black Classical music to raise awareness of the people of Africa, Caribbean and Asian culture who have contributed towards musical life throughout European and World History.

This year a concert will be held to fit in with the commemoration on the abolition of the slave trade "The Spirit of Survival : Lives Beyond Slavery" and Black History Month 2007

Turner Sims has been chosen to host the first ever concert of its kind, featuring the works of black composers such as Joseph Bologna and Samuel Coleridge-Taylor from as far back as the 18th Century. These works will be performed by:

The Southampton Youth Orchestra

Director Jane Higgins

The Southampton Youth Choir

Director Jane Higgins

The Southampton Youth Jazz Orchestra

Director Dan Mar-Molinero

The programme will open with a short historical background so that the music to follow can be placed in some context.
