Two passengers seem to be travelling together on a flight, but one person appears to be in control of the other.

Everything is probably fine, however, several signs suggest that perhaps something is 'NOT right'.

The Airport Story

I was waiting for my flight at an international airport when a stranger came up to me and said, 'You are really beautiful.' Then he said, 'I know a way you could make a lot of money.'

Do you think he was trying to recruit me?

This true story was from a 16-year-old student who had just attended The NO Project educational seminar. Is that a typical conversation between passengers?

No, it isn't.
